To whom it may concern,

Creating Communities is a Community Development consultancy firm specialising in, among other things, working with new communities in large residential developments.

Two years ago Creating Communities met with Martin Meader to discuss the benefits of introducing singing workshops into these communities. Martin was engaged to conduct a number of singing workshops in Secret Harbour, which is 100km south of Perth, WA.

The workshops were funded by the land developer and the purpose was to bring together the community whilst teaching them new skills.

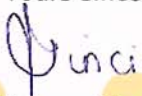

Martin's professionalism, expertise and especially his energy have made these workshops very successful, and the results from these workshops have been amazing and very positive. Friendships have been built and the confidence level of participants in the group has rapidly increased.

As a result, a singing group has now formed called "Sounds of Secret Harbour". They meet on a weekly basis and plan to perform at aged care facilities and community events.

They have performed at the last two Secret Harbour Carols by Candlelight concerts, which over 2000 people attended. The satisfaction and enjoyment they get from performing gives them the confidence to continue and grow.

Martin's passion for what he does and encouragement he gives the students/community, has led to some fantastic outcomes and we hope to work with him again on future projects.

Thank you
Yours sincerely
